

Why I don't accept naturalism

1. There always had to have been something. The fundamental question is was it a mind or only non-mind (matter/energy/laws).
2. There's no doubt that life on earth was designed by a mind.
  - Each cell contains an incredibly sophisticated DNA computer program and nanocomputer, both of which are needed together. Which came first?
3. Our universe appears designed from its beginning.
4. If there are infinite multiverses where anything can happen, one of them could have a mind or minds capable of making our universe and us.
5. Conclusion: our universe was caused by a mind or minds. We have no way of knowing where it or they came from.
